Stay Safe From The Sun With Glove It Gloves and Visors Feature Built-In UV Protection

Scottsdale, Ariz. (May 6, 2020) – Active people love the sun... but the sun doesn't always love them. Rather than stay indoors, Glove It—the leading manufacturer of women's golf, tennis, and active-lifestyle accessories—helps amateur athletes, weekend warriors, and other fans of the great outdoors stay safe from harmful rays with UV50 golf gloves and visors.

“All fabrics used in Glove It products are treated with UV50 sun protection,” said Karen Gleason, founder and owner. “We want our customers to enjoy an active lifestyle while being mindful of the importance of sun protection.”

Glove It golf gloves are available in colorful prints, solids, and designs. Each glove is made of stretch Lycra with a soft cabretta leather palm that offers maximum breathability and comfort. Gloves come in small, medium, and large sizes for either hand, plus extra-large for the left hand.

The stylish Glove It coil visor—perfect no matter what sport you're playing, or just out for a walk or around town—is also treated with UV50 and available in the company's signature line of vivid prints and solid colors. Visors feature an adjustable coil, making them pressure free for optimal comfort, and have a wider brim for added sun protection. Solid, clip-on visors feature the same sun protection and wide brim, plus a terry-cloth band for perspiration absorption.

Specially priced glove and visor combination packages are available. To view the current lineup of products, including UV50 gloves and visors, go to www.gloveit.com.
