

SHOE GUIDE

THE BEST GOLF SHOES OF 2020

You want your golf shoes to be comfortable, have traction and withstand the elements. Golf shoes of the past have done these things, but the shoes featured here—in our annual Shoe Guide—also come with a high level of customization. For instance, traction patterns are being developed by looking at the data of thousands of golf swings to find out where the most traction is necessary. Midsoles can change in firmness throughout the shoe depending on where you need the most support. Intrigued? Check out these shoes to see what other cool features are available. You'll likely find your next pair.

By Keely Levins

> START SLIDESHOW

Royal Albatross The Saxon

This street shoe-styled entry in Royal Albatross' line has a leather upper for a luxury appearance, suppleness and durability. On the inside, you'll find a lining made of soft, calf leather. Bonus padding at the ankle creates a closer fit. Price: $299. BUY NOW

Royal Albartross The Strider

Take a close look at the upper and you can see different materials at play: leather, suede and treated canvas. On the outsole, the varied traction pattern gives you grip as you pivot. Price: $259.

BUY NOW

